Dear Fellow Hunting Enthusiasts,

I am a hunting outfitter in beautiful South Africa and I am blessed to have some of the best hunting areas in the country available to me.

These fantastic hunting areas make it possible for me to offer you the following:

- Excellent plains game hunting as well as big 5 hunts.
- Hunting concessions in South Africa, Namibia and Botswana.

Background: Although South Africa has become one of the best hunting destinations in the world, one must still be sure to plan your safari with the right people.

My company's has an excellent reputation in providing international clients the best safari experience possible. We believe in offering high quality in trophies, hunting lodges and an outstanding quality hunting experience with some of the best professional hunters to guide you.

Invitation: In order to continue our five-star service to hunters from across the globe, I extend the following invitation to you.

I am looking for the possibility of a marketing agent that can direct hunters interested in an African safari to book with my company.

In return for this marketing service, I am offering a 15% commission on the whole safari. This could be very beneficial to you financially.

Please let me know if you would be interested in this opportunity and we can start to work on a mutually beneficial agreement.

I regularly visit the United States and other parts of the world during December, January and February, so I would be more than happy to see you in person.

Hope to hear from you soon!
